

Is Derek Elijah/David

29-Sep-07

A discourse to the moderator and monitor of the DSDA, E-mail forum,
Walt,

You asked the mustard seed to give a yes or no “short” answer to your query, “does Derek claim to be Elijah?”. I replied as follows:

“I do not give quick answers to E-mails, I give thorough answers. That way I avoid all confusion and misunderstandings. Have you been reading the E-mails?”:

Next you issued the following reply:

“Hi Derek, You don't have to answer 'quick' (quickly), but can take as long as you like to answer. Yet, if you do not think you should answer as 'yes' or 'no', I'll leave it at that. No offence taken. It just seems as though your answering in this way would promote less 'confusion' and not more. Walt”

—see your E-mail Saturday, September 29, 2007 12: 51 AM, Parenthesis added.

Walt, any good teacher begins class of advanced studies by following a format constructed to relay information the way the teacher’s syllabus has predetermined, the teacher of righteousness, Elijah, the Lord’s Rod-bearing mustard seed is no different. Anyone who has read the E-mails knows the answer to your question; therefore, those students who have ignored them and being predisposed to spiritual apathy, it must be presumed will continue to do so unless they turn from their rebellion. I have been called to prepare a core of teachers to enlighten the 144,000 or to feed them “knowledge and understanding” —see Jer. three. How can this be done, if the teachers themselves, the disciples elected by the Lord to judge Israel (Matt 19), prefer ignorance rather than light? What principle would justify their promotion to such a high, heaven-honored status? It may be that spoon feeding a people devoid of this knowledge and understanding, the 144,000, requires an elementary, kindergarten approach; however, much more is expected of their leaders. If you had read the E-mails you would have found the answer to the question you posed. If you have rashly and hastily deleted them, then merely heed Bible counsel, do not be pretentious, and acknowledge your fault. Then the MSC will be duty bound to forgive and work with your need of retrogression. Although, this will require humility on your part; it must be understood that there is always a penalty for straying from the Lord’s counsel especially the duty to prove all things. Please believe me when I tell you that I am not being cantankerous or difficult. I do not want any man to receive or reject the Gospel, especially at this late hour, based merely upon my word. The simple words of Derek West, devoid of proper evidence from constituted authorities is no different that the word of a common Joe on the street. It will not measure you in the judgment. Only the Testimony of Jesus, the spiritually-validated lessons which I bear, will give you a pass. Therefore, all answers must be encased within that format. When the disciples asked the Lord about Elijah in Matt 17, the Lord gave them an answer which still confuses many. He did not merely say yes or no. He, using the future tense, said Elijah will truly come then, to make matters complex, He said Elijah has already come. Your yearning, if you are honest and if you search deep within your soul, is not for a yes or no “simple answer”, it is for a word from the Lord. Please quench your thirst by carefully perusing the attached documents

Sincerely,

Derek

The Mustard Seed Advent, 29-Sep-2007
