FIRST LETTER: PROOF OF DAVIDIC LINEAGE

14-Jun-2014

Dear T____,

Thank you for your inquiry and your interest in my work. You wrote the following:

Comments: My Dad is saying that you claim to be a descendant of David. Please provide proof of your claim. He studies your materials rather religiously and is coming up with some ideas that are rather anti-biblical, based on your teachings. So I would like to see some proof of your claimed lineage before he walks further down this path, and keeps making attempts to drag me with him. Thanks.

I do not know that I know of your Dad; you did not mention his name; however, if he has ventured to read my literature, then, contrary to your assumption, he knows firsthand that it is all proven and validated by the Bible, and I must accordingly defer to his wisdom. I recommend the same for you unless he begins to stray from the Bible standard. But you must bear in mind, there is a major difference between Bible righteousness and popular, social stigmas. Many assume that once one violates prevailing doctrines of the established church, that they are sinning against God and His word; when in reality, they are only violating perceived and commonly understood standards.

True indeed, I do prove from the Bible that I am the son of David, and much of my ministry has been dedicated to expressing the evidence of that doctrine. My website, <http://www.mustardseedadvent.com/> has an audio section entitled, Authentication of Antitypical David. The evidence is too voluminous for me to rewrite it; thus, I invite you to avail yourself to the evidence which has already been released.

One important facet to the mission of antitypical David is the declaration of the name of the Lord. In other words, he defines the true identity of Christ. None in 2000 years of Christian history have shown the Lord's identity: that He was the Dove who descended and abode upon Jesus for the entirety of Jesus' ministry. Therefore, I offer this fact to you to show that, just as the Bible promises, the mustard seed has declared the name of the Lord.

One of my missions is to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children and the children to the fathers. To do so in your case, I recommend that you dutifully study with your Dad so that the two of you can, in this light, forge even a stronger bond of love and respect. Respectfully show to him the things that you love and allow him to show to you this light, the thing that he admires. Then the two of you can celebrate the righteousness of Christ as a family.

Sincerely,

Derek
